Response to Amendment

1. This Office Action is responsive to REMARKS received on 5/30/3008. No amendments were made to claims.

Response to Arguments

2. Applicant's arguments filed on 5/30/3008 have been fully considered but they are not persuasive.

Applicant argued that cited reference, Quick Jr. (US 5,673,259) fails to teach or suggest the pending claims, especially, the limitation, ‘the transceiver is assigned at least one wireless channel for receiving data traffic from the base station based on an urgency factor indicative of the urgency of the data traffic to be transmitted from the at least one data buffer in the base station.’

Examiner, respectfully, disagrees. Quick discloses Searcher Scheme, wherein a base station enters a Ready state, indicating Urgency for a mobile to receive User ID. Based on urgency, a User ID is generated and transmitted, from base station, on an assigned channel to the waiting mobile station in accordance with its assigned relative priority (see col. 23, lines 4-23, figure 13B).

Examiner, in prior Non-Final Office Action (1/9/2008) quoted that Quick does not specifically disclose “urgency factor” as worded in the claim. However, given the broader interpretation, and based on above disclosure, Examiner contends that searcher scheme, disclosed by Quick, obviates the claimed urgency factor wherein the data (User ID) is transmitted in accordance with relative priority.

Examiner made this action Final, since no amendments were made to the claims, except renumbering of the claims. All limitations, as claimed, are made obvious based on same prior art reference.

3. The text of those sections of Title 35, U.S. Code not included in this action can be found in a prior Office action.

4. Claims 35-45 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Quick Jr. (US 5,673,259) in view of obviousness.

Claims 35-43. Quick Jr.('Quick') discloses a CDMA cellular telephone system, used in CDMA applications, having forward link and reverse link, mobile stations 102 (fig. 1) (transceivers) and base stations 108. Mobile station (transceiver) transmits call request on "Access channels" and is configured to receive data traffic from base stations on a "Dedicated traffic channel" to carry the VOICE information (see col. 3, lines 63 through col. 4, lines 1-7). Quick further discloses a searcher reservation scheme which uses a priority (urgent factor) assignment algorithm based on type (user specific long code used to encode data and voice transmission) and amount of traffic in the queues (buffer), to be transmitted to the CDMA user device, wherein device receiving data traffic on at least one "Dedicated channel" (see col. 9, lines 50 through col. 10, lines 1-4).

Quick discloses Searcher Scheme, wherein a base station enters a Ready state, indicating Urgency for a mobile to receive User ID. Based on urgency, a User ID is generated and transmitted, from base station, on an assigned channel to the waiting mobile station in accordance with its assigned relative priority (see col. 23, lines 4-23, figure 13B). It would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art, at the time of invention, to be able to utilize the searcher scheme of Quick since it provides an efficient use of available transmission resources wherein the communication over wireless 'dedicated channel' is prioritized based on type of data (voice/real time), amount of traffic (urgency factor) and need, via searcher reservation scheme used by Quick (see col. 8, lines 52 through col. 9, lines 1-28, also figure 13B).

Claims 44 - 45. Quick discloses bandwidth demand associated with thresholds as traffic type attribute. Quick does not specifically disclose if the data buffer is hardware controlled by fast cache memory (claim 41). However, Quick discloses a processor 302 (fig. 3), and while in switching signals, is capable of storing data packets correspond to threshold levels and based on bandwidth demand, these data packets are transmitted controlled by searcher scheme (software) (see col. 11, lines 5-53). It is known and old that a computer, processor 302 in this case, has fast cache memory capable of storing instructions, when executed, used to control transmission from buffers. Therefore it would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art, at the time of invention, to be able to modify processor 302, utilizing fast cache memory to control data buffer in order to facilitate an efficient data packet transmission to a cell site in a CDMA system.

5. THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the mailing date of this final action.
